SEX DESIRE PASSION

ALL ON THE INSIDE...

The aliens drooled over the original Barbarella, but you don't need to be from outer space to lose it over Chloe Jones (here and preceding pages). She struts her stuff in an updated version of the futuristic fantasy.

Step right up for a peek at this rare sideshow treat—the one, the only Ellina Giani (here and previous spread). Not that we didn't love those jugglers and clowns, but where was Ellina back when the circus came to our town?

Ask Tina New to move the furniture around and she might just move around on the furniture! That's OK with us, because this winsome blonde obviously requires little in the way of personal redecoration.

The hardworking Julie Cialini—here in smoke jumper garb—has nothing to lose but her overalls. It's a surefire bet that the heart of many a man would go up in flames over this stunner.

As Lord Byron wrote, "Sleep hath its own world, and a wild realm of wild reality." Zetta Frayle (here and previous spread) has awoken from a fantastic night. She usually isn't one to reveal her dreams in detail, but this morning her bemused expression, body language and tousled blond hair make such confessions unnecessary.

Playmate Lingerie

1960

This was the year the first Playboy Club opened, The Apartment won an Oscar for best picture, The Theme from Exodus won a Grammy as best song, The Miracle Worker won a Tony for best play, Roger Maris won the AL's MVP, the average salary in the Major Leagues was $24,000 per year—and the Playmates pictured here won our hearts.
